

File Created by Blogging Rebirth WP Plugin

Staring Down the Barrel at Hurricane Ike

This may be my last post for a while. As things stand today Ike is on a crash course for Houston and it's path is currently projected to pass almost right over my home. I'm inland and probably won't sustain too much damage but it is likely I will be without power or internet. My hope is that it will be over quickly (or it veers to the north). Then again hope is never a strategy. If Corpus Christy or Baton Rouge are used as a standard to predict power outages then it may be two or three weeks. Or it may not go out at all.

I'll let you know how we fared when the dust-or water-settles!

You can also find this article published on Staring Down the Barrel at Hurricane Ike